Situation in the Dominican Republic
(Report #176 - As of 12:00 midnight EDT)

25X1

2. In a broadcast at 7:28 EDT "rebel" Radio Santo Domingo said that the approval today of the Organization of American States resolution to send troops to the Dominican Republic was a deviation from the Organization's traditional position of non-intervention in the Western Hemisphere. The broadcast commented that never before has a joint military force of Latin American nations been created to be sent to a country with internal problems, although several nations contributed military assistance in the Cuban crisis in the autumn of 1962.
